All - American Brings Cheers

Three cheers for the Wartburg TRUMPET!

This paper made All-American for the first semester of this year in the Associated Collegiate Press Annual critical service. For the first time in the history of Wartburg the college paper has received this superior, or top, rating.

Going 15 points over the necessary score for the All-American rating, the TRUMPET now ranks in the upper 11 per cent of all the college papers in the nation. In this same contest the paper hit the first-class notch last year.

TRUMPET was carefully checked, criticized and classed with other papers to show the staff how its work stands in relationship to the work of other schools. To make this competition fair, every paper entered is classed according to method of publication, type of school, enrollment of school and frequency of issue. Wartburg was classed with schools with an enrollment of 500 to 999, making this school one of the smallest in the division.

With ratings from poor to excellent, the TRUMPET received no checks below the "very good" classification. Headlines, typography and make-up received "excellent," as did department pages and special features, while news values and news writing and editing received "very good" and "excellent" respectively. Personality sketches were also given special commendation.

"Trumpeters seem to be doing a good job of covering campus news" is just one of the comments written in the Newspaper Scorebook. As for the editorial page, the judge said, "Interesting, thoughtful editorial column."

Wartburgers Attend TC 'Little Ashram'

Approximately 25 Wartburg students attended the "Little Ashram" held last week-end at the Iowa State Teachers college Cedar Falls.

Included in this group was John Walker, junior, who is regional treasurer for the Iowa district. Members of the Lutheran Student association from colleges throughout Iowa, participated in discussing the theme, "The Open Door."

Events of the week-end included discussion groups, one group being led by Wartburg students lectures and a banquet.

Highlight of the meetings was the partaking of the Holy Communion on Sunday morning.

Students are encouraged to attend the National Ashram in Interlocken, Mich., this summer. Money has been placed in a fund for those who desire to be at this convention. For further information see the Rev. Marvin Grunke, adviser, or Herman Diers, president of the Wartburg LSA.

Bruninga To Speak

"History of Photography from Aristotle to Eastman" is the title of the talk to be presented by Clarence Bruninga, freshman, at the next Camera club meeting. It will be held in room 22 in Luther hall at 7:45 p.m. on Monday, April 12, as reported by Gerald Herbener, president.

Jane Relays Queen Candidate

Jane Aarda', junior beauty, was selected last week as the Wartburg candidate for queen of the Drake Relays at Des Moines April 23 and 24. Jane was chosen by Fortress staff members for the contest sponsored by the Quax, yearbook at Drake university.

Dramatists To Shine At 'Sun-Up'

First-act characters in "Sun-Up," dramatics production to be given May 5, were stopped in the midst of practice one evening recently. Pictured from left to right are Helen Remmers (Emmy), Robert Granlund (Rufe), Judy Vogel (the other Emmy), Clifford Dirksen (Sheriff Weeks), Audra Peters (Ma Cagel) and Eugene Diemer (Pap Todd).

Elwin Bergstraesser, another first-act character, took time out to shoot his playmates.

'Soc' Workers Meet

Future Social Workers enrolled at Wartburg college attended the Child Welfare Institute at the Lutheran Children's Home Thursday, April 8.

Miss Ethel Verry, superintendent of the Chicago Orphans asylum, addressed the institute on the topics "Foster Parents," "Staff Developments," and "The Volunteer in a Children's Agency."

A discussion panel composed of Dr. Elmer Herfel, professor of biology at Wartburg; the Rev. M. A. Bucka, director of Social Service at the Lutheran Children's Home; Miss Verry, with Dr. A. E. Haefner, Wartburg professor of Greek, acting as moderator, was held on the last topic.

India Represented At UN By Delegates

India will be the country represented by Wartburg delegates to the Iowa United Nations association conference, as announced by Chairman Norman Fintel, freshman. This first conference will be held April 30, May 1 and 2 in Des Moines.

Each college in Iowa has been asked to represent a nation and vote for that nation on European reconstruction and on world police and disarmament. The questions of charter revision and human rights will also be discussed.

Members of the delegation will study these questions and take part in the model General Assembly on May 1 and 2.

Group Arouses Discussion

A great deal of comment has been aroused this week by the activities of a new group on the Wartburg campus, the Progressive party. Some comments have been favorable toward the group, some unfavorable and many indifferent; but the important thing is that there have been discussions of student government as a result of those activities.

Lack of interest in student government is noticeable, and that is an unfortunate condition to have existing on any campus. Now that the subject has been brought up, students should consider the good and bad points of their student government, as well as of the various factions that have arisen on the campus.

The Progressive party has its faults, to be sure, but it has its good points, too. It is the first example of sincere interest in student government this year. More than that, it is the first group actually to do anything about what it believes. Its platform is a much-needed liberal one, one aimed at improving a government which appears no longer adequate in a school in which the enrollment has doubled in the past few years.

Many students scoff at the idea of political activities on the Wartburg campus. They fail to realize that the only way to learn democracy—and we certainly know that we haven't learned it enough—is to practice it, to live it. And to say that politics is bad is to say that government is bad and that the citizens of a community are bad.

This newspaper can hardly go so far as to say that every student should join in the mass migration to the ranks of the Progressive movement. That would be the truest form of hypocrisy ever demonstrated; for some people just don't believe in the principles or methods of that group. The TRUMPET will say, however, and say with all the emphasis at its disposal, that it wholeheartedly supports any group that has the fortitude openly to say what it feels is wrong and suggest remedies.

Student government is the topic of the day. Here is hoping that more students will realize the real importance of learning democracy by living it.

Trumpet Reaches Milestone

This week marked another milestone in the 13-year history of the TRUMPET when it received an "All-American" honor rating from the Associated Collegiate Press, national college newspaper service organization. Receipt of this superior rating places the TRUMPET with the top seven newspapers in its division, that of weekly papers in four-year colleges with enrollments of between 500 and 999 students.

Though realizing that no paper can be judged on a basis of honor ratings alone, the TRUMPET staff feels that this is a true indication of the improvements made during the first semester of this year. The editor especially realizes that these improvements have not been the work of himself or the small editorial group about him. They are, on the contrary, the results of hard work and faithfulness on the part of a great many staff members—from those who write for the paper to those who put it in the mail.

Publishing a college newspaper takes no small amount of effort; and, for that reason, the staff of the TRUMPET hopes that its efforts have been for the good of the Greater Wartburg.

Getting Acquainted

Jane Tops Beauty List

Jane Aardal topped the list of feminine beauty on the campus last week when the Fortress staff met to choose Wartburg's candidate for queen of the Drake Relays. A few days later the glare of the floodlights, the flashes of the bulbs and the click of the shutters resulted in some most attractive pictures of the Waverly brunette.

The queen candidate, a graduate of Waverly high, has been in lights before. Last year she helped to make "Double Door" the success that it was by doing a bang-up job in one of the leading roles. Besides this role and several minor ones which she has taken in dramatic productions, the candidate excells in singing. She has completed two tours with the choir and is eagerly awaiting the first days of June when the group will again leave on tour, this time for the West coast.

Interest In Activities.

Even in high school, Jane was interested in both dramatics and music as well as in athletic activities. In her junior year she took a leading role in the class play, "Brother Goose," and in her senior year she sang her way to a Division 1 rating in state competition in the mezzo-soprano range. Besides solo work she has an interest in sextet and trio, together with mixed chorus.

Yet, with all this artistic talent, the junior English major finds her chief interest in art and spends much time on the third floor of Old Main in that department. Her favorite type of work there now is in the field of portraits, a phase which she has been developing for the last few months. Among her future ambitions is the hope that she may attend the Chicago Art Institute.

No Color Preference.

Being an artist, Jane has no particular color preference but "likes colors in general." But when it comes to fashion gossip, she has her bit to say. The new look, featuring the long skirt, ruffles and frills of all kinds, is just "in the groove," according to her. "That would really be fun," commented Jane, as she hopes that the day will come soon when skirts will be chasing the mosquitoes off the girls' ankles.

During the summers, however, this 63 inches of royal form has little time for long skirts. Even for her last summer of school, she has spent most of them on the ranch at the foot of the Bear Paw mountains in Montana. There she enjoys her summers especially while riding the range horses on the ranch. Camping in the mountains also holds a high rating in the adventurous life of Jane, who has spent a week at a time under the V-shaped canvas.

Lived In Clinton.

Jane has not entirely forgotten her few years of living along the Mississippi river in Clinton, for she still takes a keen interest in swimming and boating. When such recreation is out of season, she enjoys dancing and skating, especially ice skating, or a few games of whist.

After such tiring and food-burning activity, Jane finds her favorite dish to be something substantial, such as T-bone steak, or, if that does not fit the occasion, at least a hot fudge sundae. Also among her list of favorites is Honey, but not the kind to eat. Honey is the cute little blond of the species. There is nothing like a nine-month-old cocker spaniel to be woman's best friend.

Jane, however, is not the only member of the family who has made a name for herself. A number of students on the campus and more alumni, even those who attended Wartburg as far back as 1931, will remember her father as their physics teacher, Prof. A. A. Aardal. Her younger sister was Homecoming queen of Waverly high last fall, and her older sister is an ex-student and ex-staff member of the college, now being the wife of the nephew of Wartburg's president.

Matt Gives Recital

By Dorothy Cross

Robert Harold Matt, pupil of Ernst G. Heist, Wartburg piano instructor, was presented in recital last Sunday in the Waverly high school auditorium.

Included in the program were well-known classics such as Rachmaninoff's "Prelude in G Minor" and "The Polonaise in A Flat, Opus 53," by Chopin. Difficult and interpretive were the "Reflets dans l'eau" by Debussy and the striking "Danse Ritueele de Feu" by De Falla.

Mr. Mott is a well-poised young artist with mastery of his instrument and with a pleasant personality.

Eye have often wondered why we don't have a group of students gathering for the purpose of promoting semi-classical and popular choral singing at Wartburg. Before this, the music department has had its hands pretty full with the program on schedule; but if enough students showed interest, Eye have a feeling we could talk one of the music instructors into leading us.

Eye hope that Wartburg shortly sees
Its campus covered up with trees whose nobie arched boughs
Shall shield the sun from scholar's brows.
With trees where birds shall make their beds
And chatt'ring squirrels hide their heads.
The trees with greeny fo'iage share
The gentle stirrings of the air;
And gentler whisperings below
Give evidence of girl and beau.
Ah, happy dreams of future days
Shall only come if each one pays.

If turnover is any indication of use, we students love the juke box. In the last two weeks we've worn out three machines. No other college can make that statement.

—?—

It's gratifying how the student body has respected the rights of the individual, no matter what his station or role in life. On behalf of each and every blade of grass, thank-ee for your warm-heartedness. And might Eye ask that we remember this all the time? We can be much more proud of our school if we have things for which to be proud.

—?—

There are so many organizations on the campus; but why not one more? The Society for the Preservation and Emulation of the Pipe. What reveries are inspired by the curling, drifting clouds of smoke. How contemplative a man can become with a pipe in his hands. For some the messy cigarette; for some the smelly cigar; but for me—the Briar is the emblem of contentment. Long may it glow!

When a woman feels depressed she buys a new hat, so they tell me. But a man can't go around buying new hats. Especially if he's married—he has enough trouble paying for his wife's. But a man has one recourse. He can retreat to the haberdashery and sink his allowance in a glaring, flaming, new four-in-hand or bow (Eye can't stomach a bow). This bit of extravagance helps to pep up his moral, and isn't so difficult to support as a new hat. Fortunately I don't have a big tie-rack, or Eye'd probably be broke buying ties anyway.

Looking 'Em Over

As last week's edition of the TRUMPET was being circulated on the campus, Wartburg's sluggers were engaged in an inter-squad game in preparation for the season's opener. All Knights were given an opportunity to exhibit their wares under actual game conditions.

Although the season is just under way, several outstanding players were noted. Infielder Jim Keller not only covered his position well, but also turned in the top performance at the plate.

Fleet-footed Max Fliehler gives promise of surpassing the stellar play at bat and in the field that he exhibited last year.

Pitching services of the mighty Braunschweig would be a pleasing addition to the Wartburg hurling staff, but because of being recently transferred from another school, he will be ineligible for the present playing season.

At present some players seem to be over-confident that they have clinched a spot on the first nine. Because of this undesirable condition, the team lacks the individual striving for self improvement which is to be found on all winning teams. Your columnists feel certain that this over-confidence will be conquered by next Friday's opener.

Around The Conference

Luther's Norsemen have twice tested their strength against the mighty University of Iowa team, and were turned back in both attempts. To uphold the honor of the Iowa conference, Simpson's vaunted Redmen have turned the tide twice in downing powerful Iowa State.

Simpson's victories indicate that it has a much improved team over last year, when the Redmen were able to defeat the Knights by only a narrow margin.

Predictions

A pre-season forecast shows that the mighty Simpson and Luther aggregations will be the leading contenders for the loop baseball crown. The possibility of an underdog making an appearance is out of the question.

Wartburg's Knights will show much improvement over last year and will not land in the cellar position.

"YOUR CAMPUS-WEAR CENTER"

Over $800 Contributed To Project

Over $800 has been contributed for the student project so far, as reported by the student project committee.

April 23 has been set by the committee as the closing date of the project. Some time after this date the Student Senate will sponsor a party for the winning team and its solicitors.

A padlock will be purchased for the "gripe box," so that it may be used for collections of money and ballots. This was one of the decisions reached by the Student Senate at a meeting held last Monday evening in Luther hall.

Remind Committee.

Other business was that of reminding the auditing committee of the constitutional requirement that it audit the books of all the recognized student organizations on the campus. Changing the method of electing the Fortress editor was discussed but no decision was reached. In answer to the question of irregular mail service the Student Senate was told that the city post office does not deliver it at a regular time.

It was decided that as in previous years all of next year's seniors who have a 2.5 average now will be eligible as candidates for next year's student presidency. This would list those who are graduating at mid-term next year as candidates for student president.

Herman Diers, senior, was selected to represent Wartburg at the student government conference to be held at Valparaiso university, Valparaiso, Ind.

To Discuss Questions.

Questions that were to be discussed at later meetings of the Senate and at student body meetings are that of changing the method of electing student senators, that of permitting religious floats in the Homecoming parade, that of changing the method of amending the Student Senate constitution and that of changing certain initiation problems.

The Rev. C. G. Shalkhauser, public relations director of Wartburg college, will discuss problems concerning the Homecoming parade and Kastle Kapers with the Senate next Monday evening.

New Faculty Dean

Dean of the Wartburg faculty next fall will be Dr. Carl F. Reuss, at the present time professor of sociology at Capital university, Columbus, Ohio.

Presto Recorder Is New Alumni Gift

A Presto recording unit, the gift of the Dubuque chapter of the Wartburg Alumni association, has been installed in the broadcast booth in Old Main.

The model obtained is the kind used in radio stations and in professional recording studios, according to Dr. Edwin Liemohn, head of the Wartburg music department. It will produce records at the usual 78 rpm and also 45-minute transcriptions at 33 1/3 rpm.

Students and organizations will be able to record performances, using a recording schedule that will be set up soon.

Choir Invited Out

Wartburg a cappella choir has been invited to be the luncheon guests of the Carbon county Chamber of Commerce in the Pice city ball at Pice, Utah, on June 8, according to a letter recently received by the Rev. C. G. Shalkhauser, tour manager.

Progressives Invite Students To Examine Purposes, Platform

Students interested in examining the purposes and platform of the Progressive party, newly organized student group on the Wartburg campus, have been invited to attend a meeting of that organization Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in convocation hall, according to Robert Gronlund, junior and spokesman for the group.

Purpose of the meeting is to receive support from members who have been invited by Theodore Guetzlaff, student body president, to present their ideas to the Student Senate Monday evening and to receive suggestions for further action by the group.

This organization of students from all classes presented its statement of purpose and platform at a student body meeting Tuesday morning in the college gymnasium. It includes in its platform the improvement of Student Senate representation, initiation of monthly student body meetings and changes in the system of amending the constitution.

"We invite all students—both men and women—interested in more progressive student government," said Gronlund.

Originally organized to draw up suggestions for improvement in student government, the Progressive group has been meeting twice a week for about two months. Composed completely of men students because of the late hours of meeting, the group is now endeavoring to interest women students in its aims.

Original plans of the organization called for presenting its ideas to the Faculty-Student council, but this was changed when the student body meeting was held prior to the council meeting, according to the group's spokesman.

Permission for the Tuesday evening meeting was granted by the Rev. Marvin Grunke, acting dean of students.
